The Benefits of Just One Tree in Our World!

A Few Tree-Related Facts to Think About:

Fact: Humans and animals need oxygen to live. They breathe in oxygen and change it to carbon dioxide when they breathe out. Trees & plants breathe in carbon dioxide and release oxygen. This oxygen is essential food for our blood and bodies.

Fact: Trees take in carbon dioxide and release oxygen that we need. Trees and people depend on each other for this basic cycle of life.

Fact: Trees absorb carbon dioxide and therefore, less carbon is being released into the atmosphere.

Fact: There are fewer trees on our earth due to deforestation and development. (A section of the rainforest the size of a football field is chopped down every second.)

Fact: The higher the concentration of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere, the more heat energy is being reflected back to the Earth. This increase of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere (which is a greenhouse gas) is leading to a substantial warming of the earth and the sea, called global warming.

More Fun Blue Spruce Facts:

Fact: Blue Spruce wood has a high weight to strength ratio. It is used for airplane building, boat construction and interior and exterior construction work. Also used for musical instruments including Stradivari violins.

Fact: The Wright Brothers first aircraft was made of Blue Spruce.

Fact: 35 different varieties of spruce trees can be found all over the world. Seven varieties of spruce trees are found in North America.

Fact: The word 'spruce' is derived from the French word 'Pruce' meaning Prussia, from where spruce trees are believed to have originated.

Fact: When thirsty, early American Indians used to chew the frankincense, a gum-like resin, that formed on spruce tree bark when it was cut.

Your Blue Spruce

Your 4" tall Blue Spruce tree will help in contributing great environmental and economic value to our earth. The more trees that are planted, the more carbon that will be absorbed.

In 14 years your tree will be about 14 feet tall.

Reduces atmospheric carbon by 3 lbs./year.

The average auto generates 11,000 lbs. of carbon a year. 9 acres of Blue Spruce will eliminate the carbon released by one car per year.

It will intercept 17 gallons of storm runoff per year.

Roots take up moisture; the leaves, branches and trunk reduce erosion by slowing rainfall before it strikes the soil. When we reduce storm runoff, we reduce pollutants (oils, chemicals, gasoline, salts) washing away into our community waterways. This process adversely affects aquatic life, our drinking water and health.

In 40 years your tree will be about 40 feet tall.

Here is how this tree will grow to benefit our earth for the next 4 decades:

Reduces atmospheric carbon by 323 lbs./year.

Reduction of carbon by (34) 40-year-old trees = Carbon released by one car

It will intercept 2,609 gallons of storm runoff per year.

A single mature tree releases enough oxygen into the atmosphere to support 2 humans.

5042 Cilantro Cilantro

Cilantro is the leaf of the young coriander plant, cultivated throughout history. It is an essential ingredient in Tex-Mex dishes, and imparts a fresh taste to salsas and bean dips. Crush leaves before using for maximum flavor. Delicious mixed with sour cream to top enchiladas, tacos and chili. Adds a pleasant parsley and citrus note to oriental stir fry and salad dressings.

5042 SEEDS

5158 Chamomile Manzanilla

For thousands of years, the daisy-like flowers of this hardy herb have been used to relieve a variety of health maladies. Chamomile is best known for its ability to reduce stress, calm anxiety, soothe an upset stomach and induce restful sleep. Though there is no reliable scientific proof, generations have sworn by its healing powers. Try making a tea before bedtime: Fill a tea infuser with two teaspoons of dried flowers. Submerge in a cup of boiling water and steep for several minutes. Add either lemon or honey to taste.

5158 SEEDS

5041 SEEDS

5041 Italian Parsley Perejil Italiano

Chefs prefer Italian parsley for cooking because it contains more of the essential oils that give the most flavor. With a fresh, green taste, it is especially good for making stock, stews or sauces, as the flavor is never overwhelming. Add it to mixed green salads, or try it with fruit salads where it provides an interesting flavor contrast.

5010 SEEDS

5010 Beefsteak Tomato Tomate Beefsteak

Our Beefsteak variety produces huge, sliceable tomatoes that are especially tasty on hamburgers, or stuffed with chicken or tuna salad. Or enjoy them southern-style, between two slices of bread, spread with mayonnaise and sprinkled with salt and pepper. Dice for salads, or in fresh salsa with our other bag gardens.

5043 SEEDS

5043 Jalapeño Pepper Chile Jalapeño

Fire up your cooking with these peppers, first discovered in Jalapa, Mexico. They have a fiery flavor, and are a versatile addition to nachos, enchiladas and burritos. Jalapeños can be eaten green or red, and they create a wonderfully complex taste in sauces and dips. Turn up the heat in soups and stews, or if you're adventurous, serve them straight on a relish plate.

5159 SEEDS

5159 Starflower Borraja

Also known as borage, this herb grows to a height of 2–3 feet, with fuzzy flowers of white, blue and pink. It has been grown throughout history for both culinary and medicinal uses. It can be enjoyed as a fresh vegetable or a dried herb, and is a common ingredient in German, Spanish, Greek and Italian cuisine. It is believed to be an anti-inflammatory agent, and helps regulate metabolism and hormones, as well as alleviate symptoms of colds, bronchitis, and respiratory infections.
